

Larynn Crystalline Therapy™
by Larynn Voelger

Larynn is pleased to offer Chiva-Som guests her unique form of energy therapy, developed over many years of international training and successful UK practice at the London Hale Clinic and her Therapy Center in Warwickshire.

With her personal background in high-pressure international business she possesses a unique ability both to understand the often complex needs and to unlock the true spiritual, emotional and physical potential of her sophisticated clientele. Experience the energies of gemstones to soothe, caress and cleanse both body and soul, helping overcome life's physical, emotional and relationship challenges.

What sets Crystalline Therapy™ apart is the ability of the practitioner to actively 'see' the energy flows and, using specially charged healing crystals to actively conduct, absorb and redirect them. Crystalline Therapy™ is innovative and uniquely effective and used to help treat a variety of conditions. Clients range from those with chronic complaints such as backache, migraine and stomach pain, from skin complaints to cataracts, to psychological conditions such as stress, post traumatic stress disorder, bereavement and depression.

It is a gentle, dignified, non-invasive and non-manipulative experience with the client remaining fully clothed throughout. During the treatment the practitioner 'tunes into' the client's energy field and will intuit all kinds of messages from how it looks and feels. This careful process of identifying where blockages and 'fingerprints' may exist in the aura, meridians and chakras will effectively map the client's energetic picture. This information provides the practitioner with a detailed picture of the energetic root cause of the symptoms. Once verified and its manifestation in the energy field examined, selected healing crystals are deployed to accurately target the affected area. This active process restructures and rebalances the aura, triggering the recovery process at both energetic and physical levels.

An integral aspect of this restructuring process is to help clients connect with their 'inner self', bringing order to what at times might seem to be a bumpy and difficult road and helping to ease and explain the ride. The effect is often profound with reactions ranging from feelings of lightness & tingliness to intense release of emotions. Unexpected as these feelings can be, they usually settle down within a few days. While many conditions can be treated very successfully in a single treatment, addressing the underlying energetic causes of many chronic conditions may require several sessions.